

COCKTAILS

Our signature cocktail menu pays homage to the rich history of the Paso Robles Inn. Interested in learning more about the inspiration behind your drink? Just ask your server!

THE DUKE

Duke bourbon, Kahlua, orange bitters, orange twist | 15

John Wayne's career spanned more than 50 years, during which time he became something more than just an actor - he became a legend. And the story goes that The Duke enjoyed a whiskey from time to time at this very bar while filming scenes for some of his westerns out by the lake. His likeness at the entrance serves as a message of welcome to everyone who enters Cattlemen's Lounge.

1889

Muddled mint, cucumber infused vodka, lime juice, club soda, sweet & sour | 15

In 1889, the same year that Paso Robles incorporated as a city, construction began on a magnificent new hotel. The new El Paso de Robles Hotel opened for business in 1891. The renamed Paso Robles Inn remains in the heart of downtown Paso.

HELEN'S HAUNTING

Empress gin, blood orange, St. Germaine, lime juice, simple syrup | 15

Helen Sawyer was the daughter of the Hotel General Manager, Frank Sawyer in 1912. No one knows for sure what happened to her, but she decided to spend her afterlife playing where she lived as a child. There are many stories of her being "seen" near the ballroom.

THE BLACKBURN

Espolon reposado, ghost pepper brandy, lime juice, mango purée, tajin rim | 16

El Paso de Robles, was originally part of a 25,000 acre Mexican land grant that was purchased by James and Daniel Blackburn in 1857. The land was a rest stop for travelers of the Camino Real Trail and was known for its mineral hot springs.

J.H. EMSLEY

Mestizo mezcal anejo, agave, Citronge, lime juice, guava purée | 15

Mr. J.H. Emsley was the night clerk at the hotel on the night of the 1940 fire. After receiving the call about the fire, he quickly sprang into action saving close to 200 guests and becoming a Paso Robles Inn hero.

MARILYN'S KISS

Hendrick's gin, lemon, simple syrup, topped with prosecco | 15

After a quick wedding in San Francisco, Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio headed down to Paso Robles where they spent their first night as man and wife enjoying a quiet dinner here at the Paso Robles Inn.

THE COURTYARD

Tin City gin, St. Germaine, lemon juice, simple syrup, soda water with a Blue Curacao drizzle | 15

The Paso Robles Inn courtyard and gardens are a spot for all to unwind and relax. Filled with lush oak trees, olive trees, rose gardens, and koi ponds, the gardens provide a serene focal point for guests to enjoy and explore during their stay.
